THE COMEDY CHANNEL

A giggle a day helps you work, rest and play

..WELL that's what the experts reckon. In fact they believe laughter is a better therapy for stress related illness than any other potion or brew available today. So if you haven't laughed recently why don't you tune-into Sky's brand new Comedy Channel for an instant fit of the giggles.

It doesn't matter if your sense of humour is dry, zany, weird or wonderful, Sky brings you a great selection of modern and classic comedy from both sides of the Atlantic, guaranteed to turn the wryest smile into the broadest beam.

A great November line-up includes Are You Being Served, Starring John Inman. This much loved example of British postcard humour, transferred to the small screen, opens up shop for a half hour of high camp consumer capers, Fridays at 8pm.

Madcap adventures with the late, great Lucille Ball.

It is said that the late Lucille Ball is on TV somewhere in the world at any given moment! As the world's best-loved comedienne she certainly deserves to be. You can visit the madcap world of Here's Lucy daily at 6pm and 9.30pm or get a double dose of Lucy lunacy in The Lucy Show, Saturdays at 6pm.

In response to The Beatles' movie successes, American TV put the call out for four good-looking young men to appear in a zany sitcom about an impoverished pop group. The rest — as the cliche goes — is history for Davy Jones, Micky Dolenz, Peter Tork and Michael Nesmith. Switch on to The Monkees at 6.30pm, Saturdays.

What do you get when the beautiful star of a shampoo commercial (Cybil Shepherd) teams up with a private detective who is after more than a silken finish? The answer — the most hilarious pair of investigators in criminal history! Moonlighting, the cult classic of the eighties which shot Bruce Willis to instant super-sleuthing stardom. Sundays, at 10.30pm.

Rik Mayall, Adrian Edmondson, Nigel Planer and Christopher Ryan are The Young Ones revelling in the degradation of Ben Elton's anarchic picture of undergraduate life — pure comic genius. Mondays at 8pm.

For those who prefer clever stand up comedy, Sky brings you The Sunday Comics, a weekly slot featuring sharp sketches and even sharper comedians recorded live from Palace Theatre, Hollywood, 9.30pm, Sundays. There's more hip humour In Living Color, an irreverent half-hour sketch series which has set a new standard for this genre in the 90's, combining topical parody with biting satire.

This is just a glimpse at this month's line-up, so if you're not already chortling with The Comedy Channel, it's available to subscribers of Sky Movies Plus and The Movie Channel at no extra charge, transmitting from 4pm till midnight, seven days a week.

Everyone loves Lucy!

Laughing is good for you with Doctor, Doctor, on Comedy Channel at 8.30pm on Wednesdays

Flight to hilarity with Wings — take-off Mondays at 8.30pm on Comedy Channel

Pick of the BEST programmes on

This month we've highlighted the best of the movie and sporting programmes to help you plan your month's viewing.

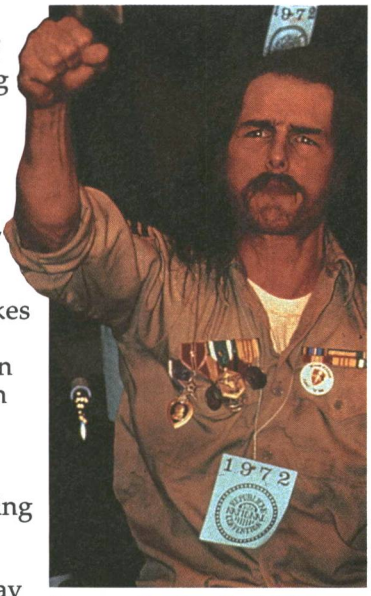
Movies

Winner of four Oscars, including Best Film and Best Actress, Driving Miss Daisy makes its British television premiere this month on Sunday, 3rd at 8pm on Sky Movies Plus. Director Bruce Beresford's film is a charming, heart-warming screen adaptation of Alfred Uhry's Pulitzer Prize-winning Broadway play about 72-year-old Southern matron Miss Daisy Werthan (Jessica Tandy) and her relationship with her patient chauffeur Hoke (Morgan Freeman).

The sophisticated comedy-drama The Fabulous Baker Boys has its British television premiere on Wednesday, 6th November at 8pm on Sky Movies Plus. The film marks the first time that the brothers Bridges — Jeff and Beau — have ever starred together on screen. Dazzling musical numbers performed by the radiant Michelle Pfeiffer, make for sparkling cinematic entertainment.

An impressive cast of young talent take to the skies in the British World War Two adventure Memphis Belle, premiering on Sky Movies Plus on Monday, 11th November at 8.15pm.

Don't miss Director Oliver Stone's savagely powerful indictment of the Vietnam War, the Oscar-winning Born on the Fourth of July, which premieres on The Movie Channel on Saturday, 9th November at 8.05pm. Tom Cruise delivers a brave, award-winning performance as Kovic, a man who must build himself a new life when his youth, his body, his dreams and his faith in everything he believes is shattered by a single bullet.



Born on the Fourth of July.

Cult director David Lynch's (of Twin Peaks fame) twisted romantic road movie Wild at Heart makes its British television premiere on The Movie Channel on Saturday, 23rd November at 8.05pm. Wild at Heart follows the fortunes of two young lovers — Sailor Ripley (Nicolas Cage) and Lula Pace Fortune (Laura Dern) — as they make their way along the dusty backroads of America's Deep South.

The Movie Channel premiere of the gangster comedy Harlem Nights (Saturday, 16th November, 8.05pm) finds top box-office draw Eddie Murphy wearing four hats, that of star, producer, writer and director. The film also stars Richard Pryor.

Sport

Rugby ...the final of the Rugby World Cup LIVE from Twickenham promises to be another classic — Screensport, November 2nd, at 2pm.

Football ...D-Day for England and Scotland as the fate of these two teams are decided in the European Championships Group 7; will a trip to Sweden be necessary? Find out by watching Poland v England LIVE followed by the second half of Scotland v San Marino LIVE from Hampden Park — Sky Sports — November 13th, at 6.30pm.

Wrestling...tag-team tournament — the 1991 WWF Survivor Series. Two teams of four wrestle each other in elimination matches.The survivors procede on to the Grand Finale Match of Survival. A Sky Movies Plus Special Event — November 28th, at 7.30pm.

Just Like Ike

OSCAR-WINNING actor Robert Duvall gives a stirring performance as the legendary General Dwight Eisenhower in a mini-series this month.

As well as his towering acting ability, Duvall brings to the part a convincing resemblance to the famed wartime leader (a fame Eisenhower built on later to become US President).

Ike*, a three-part docu-drama on Sky One, chronicles Eisenhower's progress through the war years with a look at his public and personal lives.

He arrived in Washington just after the bombing of Pearl Harbour and presented a blueprint for victory to President Roosevelt. His unwavering belief in his own military skill did not make him popular with colleagues.

But while stationed in England he went on to engineer the D-Day invasion as supreme Allied commander.

The late Lee Remick shares the limelight with Duvall as Ike's dedicated aide, Kay Summersby.

Some $7 million was spent on the production, which was a huge budget when the series was made in 1979. Using what was then the latest technology, the producers converted black-and-white wartime footage to colour for the series.

Duvall is one of the few actors to have accomplished what Humphrey Bogart and Lee Marvin did in stepping up from supporting or character parts to top-line stardom.

He won a Best Actor Oscar for his performance as a drunken ex-country and western singer in Tender Mercies (1982).

● Sky One: Ike, starts Sunday 3rd 8.00pm

Gray Gets a Kick Out of TV

DURING HIS TIME as a star striker Andy Gray was renowned as the type of player who would plunge in - sometimes head first - when the boots were flying.

Finesse and dainty skills were not his trademark.

It was his bravery and no-nonsense approach, sometimes leading to bouts of injury, that caught the eye.

Gray won 20 Scottish caps in a playing career that saw him in the colours of Aston Villa, Wolverhampton Wanderers, Everton and Rangers.

Nowadays his head is not employed to bang in goals but to help with team tactics as assistant to Villa manager Ron Atkinson and as a soccer presenter and pundit on Sky Sports.

He can seen be on Scottish League Football (Sundays 8.00pm) reviewing the previous day's soccer action in Scotland, a two-hour programme that includes highlights, news and interviews.

Gray has turned up on Sky Soccer Weekend (Fridays 6.00pm) where he has given insights about Villa's prospects for the following day.

And depending on his commitments with Big Ron and Villa, he is occasionally to be heard as part of Sky's match commentary teams.

Life for the old battler in a tracksuit or jacket and tie, however, doesn't seem to have mellowed him.

Earlier this season Gray was in a well-publicised verbal clash with Arsenal manager George Graham following a match between their respective teams. It's probably as much as Big Ron can do to stop his assistant from running on the pitch and joining in the action.

Gray is one of a number of top football personalities helping with Sky Sports' soccer coverage.

Former England captain and Liverpool idol Kevin Keegan comments on the live matches from the German league (German Football - Live Fridays 7.00pm).

Keegan's credentials for the role are excellent: he was, of course, European footballer of the year for two seasons during a spell playing for Hamburg.

This approach has also seen Sky Sports invite veterans of the Italian league to offer their insights during the live action on Italian League Football (Sundays 1.00pm). Graeme Souness, Ray Wilkins and Trevor Francis have been among those on the team.

Robert Duvall soldiers on as General Eisenhower

Henry's Proud to be King

Henry Cele had a special reason to be proud when he landed the lead role in Shaka Zulu.

He was thrilled to portray the Zulu nation's founder and his boyhood hero because he is a Zulu himself.

Cele was a keen sportsman and athlete, and a professional footballer before turning coach and manager. But when he was offered the Shaka Zulu part in a stage production it was his acting career that was off and running.

Shaka Zulu* is the true story of tribal Africa during the turbulent 19th century, and follows the life of gifted Zulu leader Shaka, as he grows up to fulfil an ancient prophesy and unite his people into a bold new nation.

It begins with a meeting between the defeated Zulu king Cetshwayo and Queen Victoria, in which the Queen asks about the origins of the Zulu nation. Cetshwayo relates the story of Senzangakon and his love affair with Nandi, and of how their child Shaka, the beetle, rose from ridiculed outcast to unquestioned ruler of a nation of proud warriors.

He also tells of the government's rising concern over the Zulu threat, and of a group of British envoys who are shipwrecked off the Cape and fall into the hands of Shaka's men.

Set against the spectacular backdrop of Zulu tribal homelands, it is the story of the clash of two cultures, and of schemes to intimidate the formidable chieftain into an alliance with the British Empire.

Also appearing are British stars Edward Fox, Fiona Fullerton, Robert Powell, Gordon Jackson and Christopher Lee.

● Sky One: Shaka Zulu, Sunday 24th 8.00pm, Monday 25th 8.00pm and Tuesday 26th 8.00pm

Mother Africa

THE RECENT RIOTS and deaths in Kinshasa, Zaire, were caused by hunger and government corruption.

The country's crisis was brought to boiling point by the kind of problems other African countries have faced in the post-colonial age. An eight-part series looking far back into Africa's history and culture sheds light on the continent's present-day troubles.

Africa illustrates the rich and diverse drama of African history with festivals, ceremonies and interviews with prominent African figures.

Distinguished historian and author Basil Davidson looks at the region's turbulent past and the making of modern Africa.

Davidson traces Africa's earliest origins, from the world's greatest civilisations in the heart of black Africa, to the Pokot and Dogon who have used their success as herdsmen and farmers to develop a wealthy and complex religious and cultural life.

Contact between Africans and Europeans was still minimal in 1880.

But in less than 30 years the 'scramble for Africa' saw the continent under colonial rule. By the 1930s nationalists were opposing European powers, and by the Second World War they were poised for change.

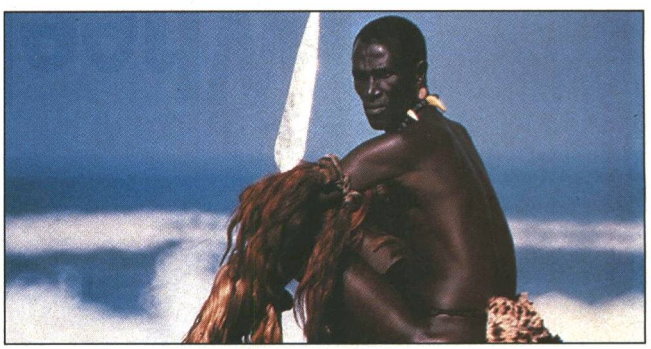
First-hand accounts highlight the struggles in Ghana, Kenya and Algeria, the tragedy of the Belgian Congo and the attempts by Kenyatta and Nyere for African unity.

Much of Africa moved to independence peacefully, but the Portuguese colonies opted for armed conflict. More recently, the collapse of white minority rule in Zimbabwe has raised the question of South Africa and how long it will be before the final bastion of white rule falls.

The European legacy is not easily reconciled with African traditions and needs. Arbitrary political divisions have led to many difficulties in Africa today. The economy remains dependent on cash crops and raw materials, controlled by rich countries at the expense of the poor.

Traditional agriculture has been neglected, as people flock to the towns, only to join the ranks of the urban poor, and Davidson looks at how these problems affect capitals like Lagos, Nairobi and Dakar.

● The Discovery Channel: Africa Wednesdays 9.00pm, Saturdays 6.00pm, from Wednesday 13th.



Shaka Zulu: the story of the great warrior King

On a High Note...

Sisters Are Doin' It for Themselves was the title of the 1985 hit duet for Annie Lennox and Aretha Franklin.

Both stars feature in a Discovery documentary called Women in Rock, which looks at how women have been doing it for themselves in the rock business.

Many legendary women stars are brought together in a celebratory collage of the artists and their music.

Among them is Tina Turner, whose 1973 hit Nutbush City Limits (with former husband Ike) has just been taken up the charts again by Turner in a remodelled version.

Featured performances in the two-part programme include Madonna (Like a Virgin, Material Girl), Bette Midler (Beast of Burden), Janis Joplin (Piece of My Heart), Whitney Houston (How Will I Know), Aretha Franklin (Respect), Tina Turner (Proud Mary, Show Some Respect) and the Bangles (Manic Monday).

Through a mix of historical footage, music videos, live performances and interviews, the lives and times of the Queens of Rock are relived.

● Discovery: Women in Rock, 1st 11.00pm, 2nd 9.00pm

● IN CELEBRATION of her birthday, Lifestyle presents Fergie - Duchess of York an intimate view of Britain's most down-to-earth Royal. Her open approach, straightforwardness and girl-next-door looks have captured the public's imagination and press criticism. Made from exclusive footage collected over many years, the programme is a frank and insightful picture of a young woman who does the unconventional for traditional reasons, exciting comment by flying, skiing, canoeing and establishing her new home. She mixes the dynamism and outlook of the 'New Woman' with duty, responsibility and hard work. By the year 2000 she will be perhaps the most influential member of the Royal family, second only to The Princess of Wales.

● Lifestyle: Fergie - Duchess of York Friday 1st at 11.25am

Unforgettable Chamberlain

Richard (The Thorn Birds) Chamberlain and Jaclyn (Charlie's Angels) Smith star in the British premiere of the three-part thriller Bourne Identity on Sky One.

Chamberlain plays Jason Bourne, a man who suffers amnesia after being shot and thrown into the sea.

On recovering, Jason starts searching for his enemies. But as he stalks his would-be killers they turn the tables on him and he becomes the victim of the chase. To save his life he is forced to take a hostage (Smith).

The series is based on Robert Ludlum's best-selling novel and stars Anthony Quayle, Donald Moffat and Peter Vaughn.

● Sky One: Bourne Identity, starts Sunday 10th 8.00pm

Our Man in Amman

CNN is preening itself after prising star reporter Brent Sadler away from ITN.

Sadler, aged 40, has had several scoops in his time and was described by CNN president Tom Johnson as 'one of the most talented correspondents in the world'. It is estimated Sadler will receive around £100,000 a year.

One potential scoop ITN can probably kiss goodbye to will be the story of Middle East hostage Terry Waite.

Sadler, who has been ITN's Middle East reporter for four years, is a good friend of the Archbishop of Canterbury's envoy and could be expected to be first to make contact with Waite when he is released.

The award-winning journalist first met Waite in Libya in 1983. Waite was negotiating the release of British hostages held by Colonel Gaddafi. He was later Sadler's best man at his second marriage and is the godfather of one of his two daughters.

One of Sadler's last scoops for ITN was reporting the reunion of freed British hostage Jackie Mann and his wife Sunnie. Sadler is a close friend of the Manns.

He will now become the top reporter at CNN's new bureau in Amman, Jordan, covering all of the Middle East except Israel.

'ITN cannot compete with what CNN has to offer,' Sadler said. 'CNN's development plans are phenomenal.

'CNN is better known and, working for them, many more doors open to you.'

For a Brit to land a job as the top man at an American bureau is an impressive achievement.

He will earn a great deal more than leading British newsmen but his success has not been without costs.

The foreign correspondent's job leaves little time for a personal life and both of Sadler's marriages have ended in separation.

Sadler received a lot of exposure around the world when his reports for ITN on the bombardment of Iraq were also used by CNN's global network.

Aside from CNN's Peter Arnett, Sadler stayed under the bombs in Baghdad longer than any other foreign broadcaster.

The danger was not new to him. While once preparing a story about Druze militiamen he was shot in the arm. ■

Creep Show

FOR EVERY ONE of us there are 200 million of them.

They are everywhere and inspire dread wherever they roam.

Yet when they have so many eyes and legs and so many ingenious ways to bite us, it's no wonder that creepy-crawlies are not in the fluffy-bunny league of popularity.

And of course the makers of horror 'B' movies have always known that you only have to unleash a plague of God's little critters across the screen to make the audience shiver and squirm. Remember The Fly, Tarantula and The Wasp Woman?

It will surprise many people that The Discovery Channel believes the little – and not so little – monsters have had a bad press.

So don't get ants in your pants if you switch on to Discovery to be confronted by all manner of mobile nightmares. Sit tight for a month-long exploration of the insect world.

Discovery believes that arachnids (spiders, scorpions and ticks), dipterans (flies, mosquitoes and midges) and their friends have been turned into bugaboos by folklore and myth.

In an extensive season of programmes, Discovery hopes to reassure the fainthearted that the tiny and teeming do not always live up to their abominable reputation.

If you dare to look, as Professor Tom Eisner of Ithaca, New York, does, you will probably find the insect world can be an intriguing place.

In one programme he reveals some of the extraordinary ways in which insects have adapted for survival, including the 'transvestite' caterpillar, a beetle that walks on stilts to keep a cool head, and the larva of the 'fool's gold' beetle, which carries an umbrella made of dung to shield itself from the sun.

Will you be able to develop a fondness for the slimier inhabitants of ponds and marshes? Or for the mosquito with an intricate seven-layer piercing system which is used to cut through human skin?

If not, you'll be confirmed in your discomfort by the terrible termites of Cape York Peninsula and the news that a huge army of super-locusts in Africa is threatening the world.

Who said those horror films were all fiction?

● Creepy-crawlie highlights on Discovery include: Wild World of the East Saturdays 4.00pm; The Mystery of the Locusts Wednesday 6th 9.00pm; In the Wild with Harry Butler Thursdays 7th, 14th, 28th 5.00pm; Mysterious Miniature World Saturday 9th 5.30pm; With Sucking Tubes and Pincers Saturday 9th 9.30pm; The Bug Man of Ithaca Friday 15th 7.00pm, Sunday 17th 8.00pm; Wild America: Killer Mice Tuesday 19th 7.30pm ■

EEEEEEEEK!

Movies to give you the creeps this month include Tremors and Tarantula, both on the Movie Channel (see our Film Guide, beginning page 33).

The Big Heat

SUPER MARIO fanatics beware! The brand new Super Mario Challenge 3 Game is here on Monday 4th.

Presenter John Lenahan confesses, 'I'm now totally hooked, but I'm not as good as the kids. I don't have to compete.'

Hailing from Philadelphia, John came to England about eight years ago as a street entertainer, 'The best way to see the world and make money at the same time,' he says.

As well as presenting The Super Mario Challenge, he is also a magician, comedian and compere, but says his hardest job is as a father bringing up his one-year-old son!

As a computer buff, he was thrilled to be offered the job as Super Mario Challenge presenter, and spent two weeks preparing for the series by playing the game at home for six hours a day. 'I'm really enjoying it,' he enthuses, 'and I'm ready to do another series.'

I Wanna Tell You a Story

Each half-hour episode of Storybreak brings to life a book that children themselves have put on the best-seller list. These much-loved stories are transformed into delightfully animated tales, such as Arnold of the Ducks, in which a young boy lost in the wilds is rescued by ducks who rear him as their own. To everyone's relief he is finally reunited with his family, who then have to get used to living with a boy who goes 'quack'.

In Witch Cat, Gwen adopts a stray cat, not knowing that the cat belongs to a witch, and is on a mission to train the only good witch born this century. No prizes for guessing who the good witch is.

Michelle – the

Attractive she may be, bimbo she isn't. As Michelle Pfeiffer reveals in the TV premiere of The Fabulous Baker Boys, her success is based on considerable talent

MICHELLE PFEIFFER is not gorgeous. She says so herself.

'Meryl Streep is beautiful. I'm not. I don't have a sex siren's body.'

Well, several-million film fans might take issue with her there.

After all, they have flocked to her films and made her one of the biggest draws in Hollywood. So is it her sex appeal or her acting that is the biggest part of her success?

'I don't know that I ever felt that I was extraordinary looking. In fact, I know that I'm not.

'If anything I've always felt that I was conventionally pretty.'

And on one famous occasion she went so far as to say: The way my mouth curls up and my nose tilts, I should be cast as Howard the Duck.'

Pfeiffer is plainly determined not to let her beauty get in the way of her acting achievements. Having been dismissed by some as a talentless bimbo in early roles like Grease 2, she has a clear view of her priorities now.

Success and stardom were a long time coming. Now 34, she was born in Orange County, California, of Swiss-Swedish-Dutch-German stock.

While working as a supermarket checkout assistant her hairdresser suggested that she try modelling. She entered a beauty contest, became Miss Orange County and acquired an agent.

Bit parts on television and film ensued. One TV role was so tiny that Pfeiffer

Michelle Pfeiffer with Jeff Goldblum, her co-star in Into The Night

was billed simply as 'The Bombshell'.

Her starring break came when she was cast as chief of the Pink Ladies in Grease 2. But despite her sweet and funny performance the movie flopped and no further offers followed.

Pfeiffer took acting classes and then fought for four months to convince Brian De Palma to cast her in Scarface.

Hollywood's big wigs at last took notice. She made a couple of movies and then her acting talents were really unleashed in Sweet Liberty. Playing opposite Alan Alda, Michael Caine and Bob Hoskins, Pfeiffer excelled as an ambitious and mercenary bitch.

Leading roles in films like The Witches of Eastwick and Married to the Mob came Pfeiffer's way; Jack Nicholson and Mel Gibson were among her leading men.

Pfeiffer and the real leading man in her life, actor Peter Horton (now well-known as a star of thirtysomething), were splitting up at about the time she was making Amazon Women on the Moon in 1987.

Horton, whom she had met at acting school, was one of several directors on the film, a parody which has been described by one critic as 'astonishingly unfunny'. It was a hiccup in Pfeiffer's rise and must have been one of the less fond memories of the marriage.

Today, a sequence of acclaimed performances and two Oscar nominations are proof that she excels as an actress.

Sardonic in Tequila Sunrise, vulnerable in Dangerous Liaisons, Pfeiffer is equipped with the range to outlast rivals Daryl Hannah and Kim Basinger, both of whom now get the roles she declines.

Moreover, she is now a top Hollywood earner, reportedly receiving an estimated $3million for her latest film, Frankie and Johnny.

And, yes, Pfeiffer has even been sexy when a role has called for it.

Anyone who views the British television premiere of The Fabulous Baker Boys this month will get a powerful blast of Pfeiffer's allure.

It's the bittersweet story of two piano-playing brothers, played by Jeff and Beau Bridges, and the woman who comes between them. They recruit a female singer, Pfeiffer, to jazz-up their stale stage act.

Pfeiffer plays a character called Susie Diamond, an ex-hooker with seductive singing talent.

In the film's knockout scene, Diamond slinks and writhes atop a grand piano in the tightest possible dress and high heels, slowly vamping along to Making Whoopee.

It's the kind of performance that would make the eyes of the characters in a Tex Avery cartoon pop out. Howard the Duck couldn't have done better.

Preparing for the part, Pfeiffer installed a karaoke machine in her home and had voice training.

The film was acclaimed by the critics and Pfeiffer received one of her Oscar nominations (the other was for Dangerous Liaisons). The New York critics voted it the year's best female performance.

And in London BAFTA gave her its Best Supporting Actress award.

It was her growing confidence as an actress that made her portrayal such a success.

On the film's release Pfeiffer said: 'Two years ago I couldn't have put on those clothes and acted in such a sexual way.

'Susie is a brilliant character because she is more than just an arm-piece for a man. She is someone I would like to be more like. That part has affected me.'

Forthcoming Attractions

Two new Michelle Pfeiffer films are awaiting release in this country. One is Love Field, the story of an inter-racial romance. The other is Frankie and Johnny, which reunites Pfeiffer with her Scarface co-star Al Pacino. It is the story of two middle-aged lonely souls who find each other. One very revealing love scene between Pfeiffer and Pacino took over three days to shoot. 'I hated doing this scene,' she confessed. 'It was very difficult for me.' She is also set to begin work on the sequel to Batman. Hero Michael Keaton is being pitted against Pfeiffer as Catwoman and Danny DeVito as the Penguin.

Breaking Point!

Who has the mental toughness and sheer guile to win this month's World Ladies Snooker Championship? Seventy-one women from nine countries were on cue for it. Now the top eight qualifiers are in place for the finals at the Hyde Park Hotel, London. A record £40,000 prize money awaits them with £12,000 going to the winner. High-breaks, heart-breaks and drama (one player is expecting to give birth during the quarter-finals!) are guaranteed. Screensport has live coverage of the semi-finals and final from Friday 8th to Sunday 10th.

Frame of Reference: Who's Who of Finalists

STACEY HILLYARD
World ranking: 1
Age: 22
Home town: Christchurch
Background: started playing at 12. At 15 had an entry in the Guinness Book of Records as the first woman to make a century break (114) in an open competition. This year went further than any other woman in the Dubai Masters when she met and narrowly lost to Alex Higgins. World Champion in 1984. Form: a brilliant potter who must do well. Seems to have a hoodoo over 'invincible' Allison Fisher, whom she beat in in the 1984 and 1987 World Championships.

TESSA DAVIDSON
World ranking: 5
Age: 22
Home town: Banbury
Background: made her debut in the World Ladies Billiards and Snooker Association southern championship in 1988. Her crowning performance was taking the UK Championship in 1989. Rested from snooker for a year owing to family illness but now back with a brace of good results. Form: an amateur who plays in the men's leagues, this rising star has enormous potential. Playing very well at the moment. A dark horse that might just clinch it.

ALLISON FISHER
World ranking: 2
Age: 23
Home town: Hadlow, Kent
Background: the most famous woman player picked up the cue at the age of 7. She's won every honour in the ladies' game and is hailed as its finest player. One of the few full-time women players, she has toured many overseas countries. World Champion in 1985, 1986, 1988, 1989. Form: she may be the most complete player around but she has been beaten several times lately. Below form. Still, her record and reputation make her a formidable opponent.

MANDY FISHER
World ranking: 6
Age: 29
Home town: Wisbech
Background: Mandy founded the WLBSA in 1981 and has worked hard to promote the women's game. Travels the world playing challenge matches and exhibitions. She was the world number one for two years during the mid-80s. Form: that she is expecting a baby during the quarter-finals might just inhibit her game. Previously gave birth six weeks before the 1987 championships but still reached semis – what a professional! Needs a miracle this time.

ANN-MARIE FARREN
World ranking: 3
Age: 20
Home town: Nottingham
Background: first made an impact on the ladies' circuit at the 1986 World Championship when she reached the quarter-finals at the first attempt. The next year she won the World Championship by beating Stacey Hillyard in the final. She was also a finalist in 1988 and 1989. Form: a very solid and impressive player who must do better than she did in last year's championship, where she never got beyond the last 16. Possible finalist.

KIM SHAW
World ranking: 7
Age: 22
Home town: Wisbech
Background: a local club manager spotted her potential when she was 14 and started coaching her. Had immediate impact on the circuit and has been a leading player since. Her finest moment came in 1986 when she reached the semis of the World Championship, losing through inexperience to Canada's Sue Lemaich. Form: has trouble beating the top women. Under new management, Main Asset, and that might help her confidence. Outsider to win.

KAREN CORR
World ranking: 4
Age: 22
Born: Ballymena, N Ireland
Background: the reigning World Champion. Spoken of as the most exciting player on the ladies' circuit, she has added consistency and safety to her potting skills and reaped the reward in several tournament honours. In the 1989 Sunday Times Sportswomen of the Year awards she won the Player of the Year category. Form: not been on top of her game recently. But she has the temperament for the big occasion and might just overturn her recent bad form.

GEORGINA APLIN
World ranking: 8
Age: 24
Home town: Royston
Background: Rarely fails to reach the quarter-finals of a competition. Last year she was a finalist in the British Open and Pontins Bowl tournaments. A quarter-finalist in the 1989 and 1990 World Championships and was North West Ladies Champion in 1987. Joined the professional circuit in the summer. Form: always in the running for the big prizes but fails to go the distance. Nothing in recent form to suggest win.

Top of the pots: Karen Corr, Georgina Aplin, Stacey Hillyard, Allison Fisher, Tessa Davidson, Mandy Fisher, Kim Shaw and Ann-Marie Farren

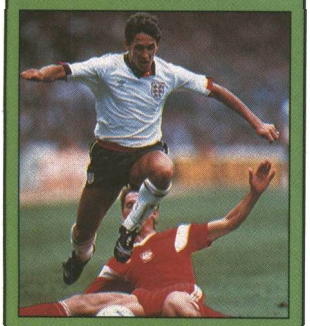
Can England Polish Them Off?

Thousands of British soccer fans will plan their summer holidays on November 13th as the European Championship fates of England and Scotland are decided. Will a trip to Sweden be necessary?

After showing England's crucial home tie with



Turkey in October, Sky Sports shoot off to Poland for the last qualifying tie in the group, and with only one team admitted from this tight Group 7, England will need a win.

Back in October last year England beat Poland 2-0 in their first qualifying tie. They remain unbeaten, the favourites to qualify for Sweden. But while Poland can upset this plan, the Republic of Ireland are able to scupper it entirely. If they win in Poland in October and Turkey on November 13th, Jack Charlton's men could once more spoil the English party plans and book the place for themselves.

Scotland have never qualified for a European Championship but the signs for 1992 look good. Mathematics decree that their group will not be decided until the 13th so there could be much nail-biting yet.

● Sky Sports will show the full England game exclusively live, starting at 6.30pm. Then it's off to Hampden Park for the full second half of Scotland against San Marino live.

Wheels of Fortune

RALLYING IS A tough sport, and driving nearly 1500 miles through Britain in November is one of the ultimate tests of driving and mental stamina.

The Lombard RAC Rally, is here again; beginning on November 24th with the start and finish occurring in Harrogate.

The non-stop grind on the car being driven flat out for almost four days is mirrored by the effects on the drivers. Rallys are often won by seconds rather than minutes, and the pressure on man and machine is constant.

The high technological developments of the cars demands equally high effort from driver and navigator. Gone are the days when brave amateurs with startled passengers set out on a driving adventure. Rallying is big business, and is dominated by Europeans, especially Scandinavians.

The Lombard RAC Rally is always a popular event for drivers because of the special affinity they seem to have with the enthusiastic British public.

This year's event returns to Wales for the first time since 1989, and night driving will also play a significant role in the result. Day three, in particular, will be a dark day, with half of the special stages taking place with the headlights blazing.

It is also of more than normal significance because the event is the last in the World Rally Championship for this year. Carlos Sainz of Spain and Juha Kankkunen of Finland have been dicing for the title all year, and fans can expect a colossal tussle in the Lombard.

Sainz, the current world champion, is driving his Toyota with normal dependability while Kankkunen's Lancia put his team at the top of the Manufacturer's Championship as the final rounds drew near.

The anticipated field of up to 180 will start at 7.45 on the 24th for day one of the rally, with nine special stages before reaching Chester for an overnight stop.

Day two is a loop through North Wales with another 12 special stages and a second stop in Chester. The third day is the longest with a drive north along the west side of the Pennines, along the Scottish border and back down the eastern side of Britain's 'backbone'. There are also a further dozen special stages.

By this time the race is usually down to one or two cars keeping engines and minds in one piece for the final few hours on day four. That starts in Harrogate with four special stages and a finish just before 7.00pm.

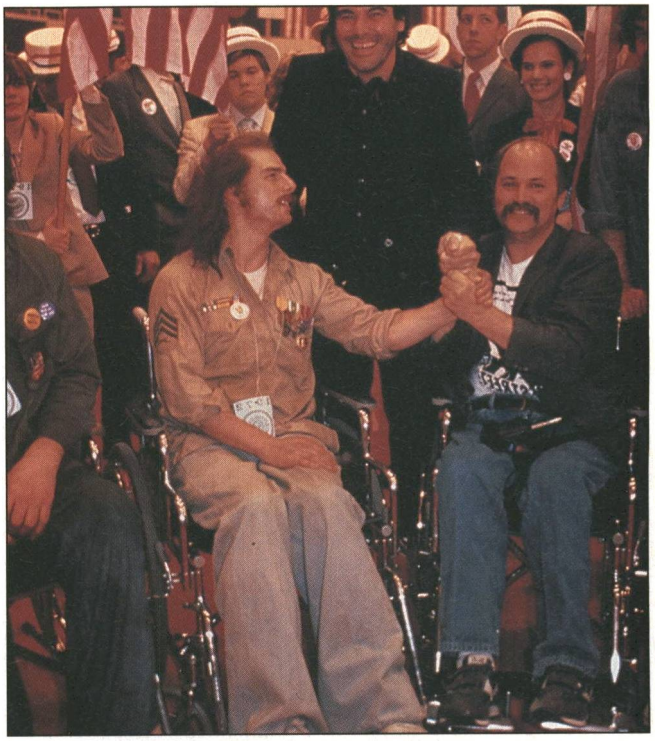
It's Not a John Wayne Movie



Ron Kovic, Oliver Stone and Tom Cruise

LIKE MILLIONS of young Americans brought up in the 1960s, Ron Kovic believed unquestioningly in JFK's rhetoric about fighting for one's country, going to Vietnam and making the world safe for democracy.

These ideals quickly crumbled after the traumas of accidentally shooting one of his own men, the indescriminate killing of Vietnamese women and children, and then being sent home permanently paralysed after being wounded by artillery fire.

As Kovic would later say, 'It wasn't like a John Wayne movie at all.'

But there was more to come. Kovic returned not to a hero's welcome, but to an America that had turned its back on him.

Increasingly disturbed and dissatisfied by the war, his country, his family and Catholic religion, Kovic joined Vietnam Veterans Against the War in 1970. He became one of its most outspoken leaders.

Arrested nine times during anti-war demonstrations, he was thrown out of the 1972 Republican Convention for attempting to shout down Richard Nixon as he began his acceptance speech.

In 1976 he addressed the Democratic Convention nominating draft evader Fritz Efaw for Vice-President, and threw himself into securing an unconditional amnesty for war resisters.

Today, Kovic is a political candidate himself. This year he was outspoken about American involvement in the Gulf War.

But he found time to write his memoirs, which came to the screen as Born on the Fourth of July.

Oliver Stone's camera plunges the audience into the action and pummels it with the horrors of war, Kovic's service, and his consequent paralysis and rehabilitation.

Strong stuff, but not surprising considering Kovic himself wrote the screenplay. 'Since I came home, my life has been a struggle to give meaning to what happened to me,' he says. 'For me, the film is a culmination of this struggle.'

Tom Cruise's award-winning portrayal of Kovic is unforgettable, and the entire cast, which includes Platoon refugees Willem DaFoe and Tom Berenger, and Sixties militant Abbie Hoffman, could not be stronger.

For Cruise, Born on the Fourth of July was a switch from the clean-cut characters of movies like Top Gun and Cocktails that had turned him into Hollywood's hottest star.

Mature with Age

Marlon Brando fans can watch the living legend at diverse stages of his titanic career this month.

Despite his pronouncement that 'quitting acting is a sign of maturity', Brando returned to the screen in A Dry White Season in 1989 (previewed this month on the Movie Channel).

It's a powerful melodrama set in South Africa, about an Afrikaaner teacher who suddenly awakens to the murderous effects of the country's racist oppression.

It was his first appearance for 10 years, and although only on screen for 10 minutes, his powerhouse performance as a liberal but resigned judge steals the show, resulting in a well-deserved Oscar nomination.

Brando burst on to the movie scene in The Men in 1950, playing a paraplegic war veteran opposite Teresa Wright. His style, depth and range was described by a critic as coming 'like a blood transfusion into cinema acting'.

Nearly 30 years later he made his shadowy appearance as Colonel Kurtz in Francis Ford Coppola's Apocalypse Now, showing up overweight on the set and improvising his way through his central role. The Horror.

New Stars in the Sky

AN IMPRESSIVE cast of young talent takes to the skies in the British World War II adventure Memphis Belle, showing this month on Sky Movies Plus.

Matthew Modine, Eric Stolz, Billy Zane and Sinatra-style crooner Harry Connick, Jr. are just a few of the rising actors portraying the young American crew of a B-17 Flying Fortress bomber nicknamed Memphis Belle. The film follows them on their record-breaking 25th and final mission into the skies over Germany.

To learn to feel and act like a team, all 10 members of the aircrew cast were sent on an eight-day course at a British SAS training ground.

Directed by Michael Caton-Jones of Scandal fame, Memphis Belle cost £21million to make, most of the budget going on the five vintage bombers used in the dynamic aerial scenes.

In addition to the sweaty-palmed high-flying dogfights, much of the film's appeal comes from the distinct identities among the group of young fliers. A human drama as well as a soaring tale of action and heroism, Memphis Belle lives up admirably to producer David Puttnam's dream of 'a Saturday-night picture with some intelligence about it'.

● Sky Movies Plus: Memphis Belle Saturday 30th 8.00pm ■

Reaching for star status: the crew of Memphis Belle

Wild Thing

YOU CAN TAKE a ride into the frightening and twisted nightmarescape of cult director David Lynch when his Wild at Heart bursts on to British TV this month.

At face value the film is a romantic road movie about lovers Sailor (Nicolas Cage) and Lula (Laura Dern) fleeing Lula's lunatic mother (Dern's real-life mother, Diane Ladd).

But viewers who try to follow the mysterious goings-on to a logical conclusion will end up in a dead end. The story is really a frame on which to hang images of derangement, evil, corruption, mutilation and naked passion.

The result is a wacky saga with no explanation. What did Sailor see when Lula's father killed himself? Why did he kill himself? Who knows?

But then no one seriously claims to have explained what Lynch's disturbing TV series Twin Peaks is all about. No one really cares. Fans know that subversive soap is a triumph of image and mood over content.

And Wild at Heart is certainly that. It features Lynch's wife Isabella Rossellini in a slightly less unsettling role than she played in Lynch's previous movie, the superior Blue Velvet. As for choosing Willem Dafoe for the part of rotten-to-the-core, black angel Bobby Peru, Lynch stated simply: 'Clark Cable is dead.'

Isabella Rossellini in 'Wild at Heart'

The director is currently shooting a big-screen version of Twin Peaks. Called Twin Peaks: Fire Walk with Me, it is set for release in 1992. Expect more questions than answers.

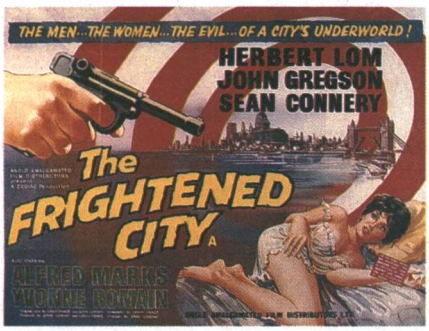
BRAVO

THERE'S TROUBLE IN TOWN

HELL IS A CITY

There are all kinds of disturbing urban goings-on in both this month's Thriller double bills - inner city crime, metropolitan mayhem, even end-of-the-pier fear.

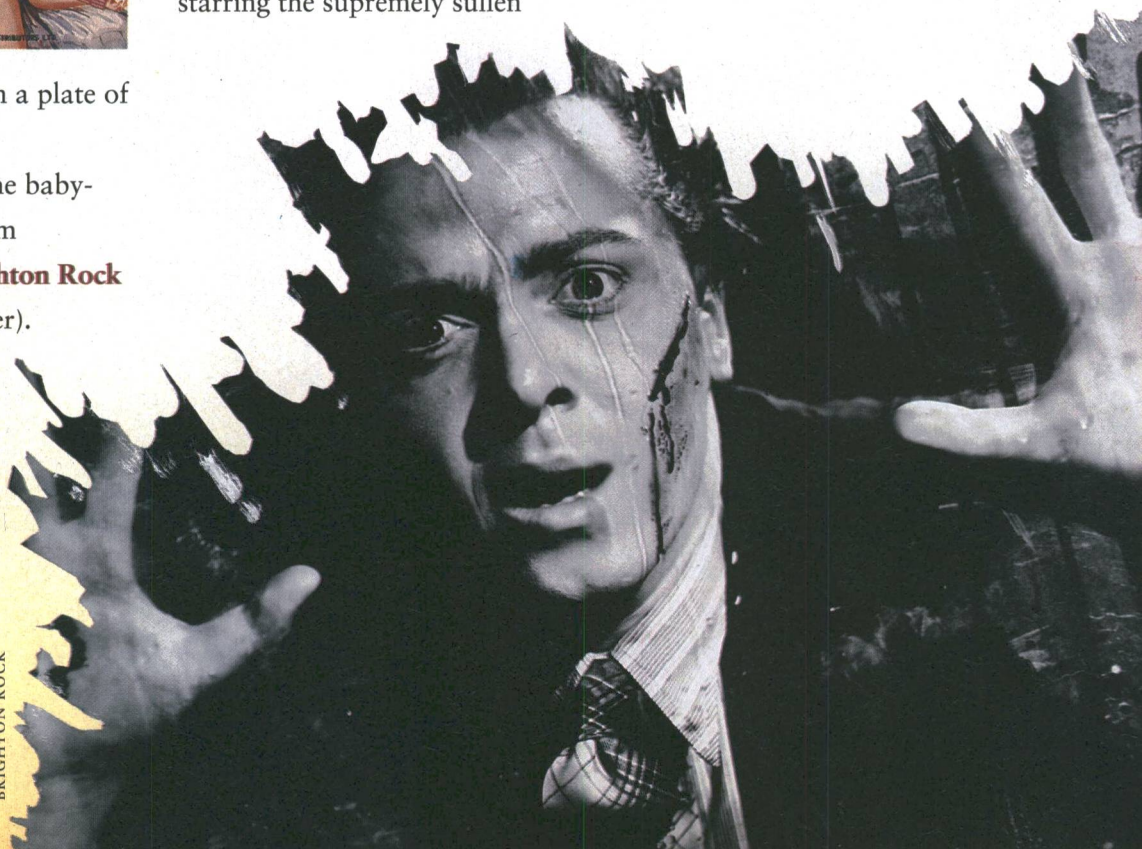


Causing more upset than a plate of bad whelks, Richard Attenborough stars as the baby-faced gangster in Graham Greene's classic Brighton Rock (19th November). Young Dickie, or Young Scarface as he's called in the US version, plays a teenage hoodlum who tries to cover up a murder by marrying a witness - but his plans misfire. Clever trick ending by director John Boulting.

And to complete the bill, a disturbingly youthful Sean Connery stars with Herbert Lom in Frightened City, a tense melodrama about a London protection racket.

The second double bill features Hell is a City (5th November) - surely Manchester's not that bad - starring the supremely sullen Stanley Baker in a hectic 1959 cop thriller about a jewel thief who breaks jail.

This shows with Pendulum, starring a comparatively svelte George Peppard in an action drama about a police captain who becomes a chief suspect when his wife and lover are murdered.



BRIGHTON ROCK

And for November, Bravo presents a Roger Corman season.
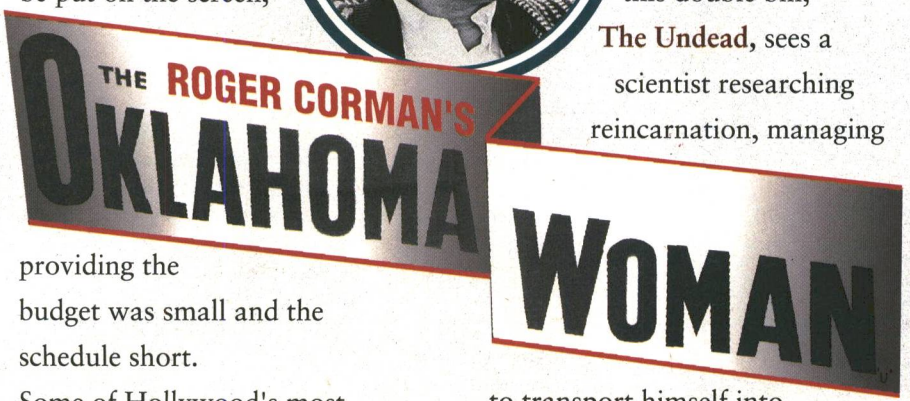
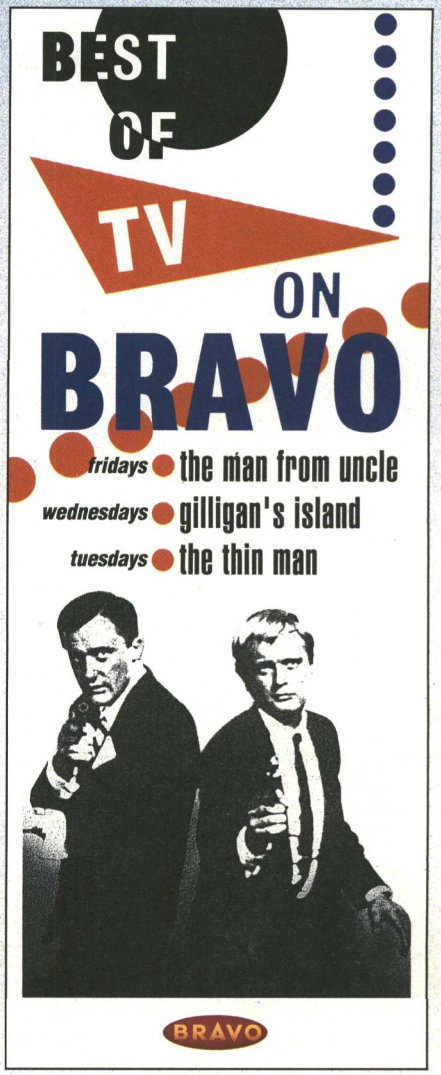
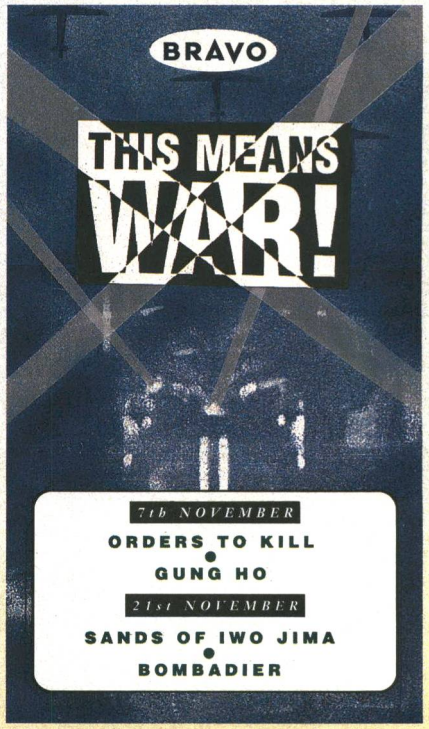
Corman is undoubtedly Hollywood's greatest movie maverick, making every kind of movie imaginable, with around 200 films in 30 years to his credit, and sometimes discredit.
As director, producer and occasionally bit player, no subject was too wild, too bizarre or too tasteless to be put on the screen, providing the budget was small and the schedule short.



Some of Hollywood's most notable glitterati are amongst his proteges and greatest fans, including Francis Ford Coppola, Jack Nicholson, Peter Bogdanovich, Martin Scorcese, Robert De Niro and William Shatner to name but a few.
The season begins with an interesting low budget shocker, It Conquered The World (16th November), in which a well-meaning scientist shelters an evil-intentioned invader from another planet - something resembling a giant cucumber with huge crab claws - gripping stuff.
This doubles with Sorority Girl, featuring a monster of a different kind in a tale of a twisted teenage hussy who brow beats her college sisters with lies, deceit and blackmail - just an everyday story of varsity folk.

In Oklahoma Woman (23rd November), an ex-con tries to stay out of trouble but becomes involved with the female leader of a gang of outlaws.
The second part of this double bill, The Undead, sees a scientist researching reincarnation, managing to transport himself into the dark ages - don't you just wish you could do that to some people?
Finally, rock could be a link between the last in the Corman Double Bill season, where Robert Vaughn (one of the Men from U.N.C.L.E.) stars as the prehistoric Teenage Caveman (30th November), shown alongside Rock All Night, a rock and roll suspense thriller, featuring The Platters and The Block Busters.
Well, that's all for this month, remember to keep sending in your choice of movies for New Year's Eve.
See you in the back row.





U.N.C.L.E. Sam to the Rescue

BY THE MID 1960s, James Bond was the world's most popular special agent. Not to be outdone, America came up with what was to become one of the great cult TV spy series of the decade . . . The Man from U.N.C.L.E.

The only organisation able to save the world, U.N.C.L.E. (less of a mouthful than United Network Command for Law and Enforcement), was launched in 1964 and had its secret American headquarters in New York, with an entrance in the unlikely fitting room of an even more unlikely tailor's shop.

Running its nerve centre was Mr Waverley, aka Hollywood veteran Leo G Carroll, whose function was to assign agents cases and coordinate their efforts.

Heading these were two superagents, Napoleon Solo and Ilya Kuryakin, who were teamed to fight the international crime syndicate T.H.R.U.S.H.

Solo, a suave urbane American was played by sometime Teenage Caveman Robert Vaughn (who, coincidentally, can be seen in that embarrassment on Bravo on Saturday 30th). Along with British star David McCallum's blonde introverted Russian, he spent most of his time saving mankind from T.H.R.U.S.H.

Guest stars were a regular feature. Kurt Russell put in a appearance in one episode as a freckled 12-year-old.

Star Trek luminaries William Shatner and Leonard Nimoy star with Werner 'Colonel Klink' Klemperer and former child star Peggy Ann Garner in a convoluted plot involving a Russian diplomat and the obligatory secret weapon.

McCallum's then wife, Jill Ireland, also appeared as the beautiful daughter of a murdered scientist.

U.N.C.L.E.'s popularity soared, reaching the pinnacle of silliness in 1966 when The Girl from U.N.C.L.E. appeared in the form of the future Hart to Hart housewife-sleuth Stefanie Powers.

But Powers' character April Dancer did not impress the viewers.

Indeed, The Man from U.N.C.L.E itself was by now beginning to flag, and the producers had to do something pronto to rejuvenate their spoof.

A transfusion of reality was tried, with stories that were more suspenseful and no longer seemed to have come from a comic book.

At the same time, a series of big screen movies was made, starting with To Trap a Spy, which was actually the original pilot show supplemented with some additional 'lovemaking' footage.

But reality didn't suit the show. It had become stale and ceased transmission in 1968. Action lovers switched instead to Mission Impossible.

● Bravo: The Man from U.N.C.L.E. Fridays 7.00pm and Wednesdays 11.30pm

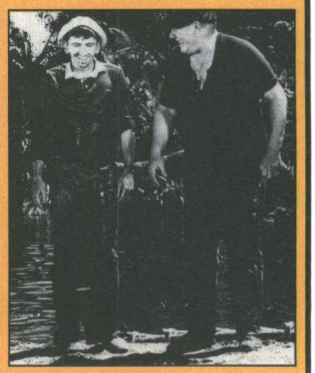
No Man is an Island



WHEN THE skipper of a small excursion launch and his moronic mate are marooned on an uncharted Pacific island with a passenger list that includes a glamorous movie star, a millionaire and his socialite wife, a handsome schoolteacher and a naive smalltown girl, the result can only be, well, Gilligan's Island. Bob Denver stars as Gilligan himself, the well-meaning but hopelessly inept mate of the Minnow, who not only caused the shipwreck in the first place, but also unwittingly sabotages all attempts to escape, much to the annoyance of his fellow castaways. Keeping Bob company is versatile character actor Alan Hale, Jr, best-remembered as Casey Jones. He is the long-suffering skipper who fights a long and losing battle to keep ahead of Gilligan's crackpot ideas.

Rebel without a Cause scene-stealer Jim Backus plays scowling, sniggering millionaire tycoon Thurston Howell III, while Natalie Schafer appears as socialite Mrs Howell. Despite being desert island castaways, the Howells insist on observing all the accustomed social graces.

Beautiful Tina Louise is cast as Ginger, a glamorous movie star, and Russell Johnson is featured as the professor, a high school teacher whose aptitude for gadgetry and science is an obvious asset to the castaways.

Finally, Dawn Wells appears in her first regular TV role as Mary Ann, an unsophisticated smalltown girl. And that rounds off our group of desert island dimwits. Perhaps Robinson Crusoe had it right after all when he opted only for a sole companion.

Bravo: Gilligan's Island Wednesdays 6.30pm from Wednesday 6th ■

Dickie – a Cut Above the Rest

Teenage psycho: Richard Attenborough as Pinkie

GLAMOUR, good looks, great acting – Richard Attenborough could offer none of these and yet he is one of British cinema's outstanding survivors.

From his 1942 cameo in In Which We Serve to being the current talk of Hollywood for attempting a movie biogaphy of Charlie Chaplin, Attenborough has had a monumental career.

The early years were filled with the portrayal of a rogue's gallery of blubbering cowards or nasty thugs, hardly the type of characters to endear him to cinema-goers.

Typically, he first grabbed the public's imagination in the role of the boy psycho Pinkie in the 1947 film of Graham Greene's Brighton Rock (on Bravo this month).

Attenborough's razor-wielding thug and leader of a Brighton racetrack gang is a chilling creation. Pinkie murders a reporter who is investigating gang violence only to find himself hunted by his victim's brave fianceé.

The only link between Pinkie and the killing is a young waitress who witnessed what happened. Pinkie courts and finally marries her to provide himself with an alibi.

The film reaches a cynical and ironic climax typical of Greene (who also wrote the screenplay) and was regarded as a shocker in its day. It has the bonus of being beautifully shot by Harry Waxman.

And Attenborough certainly impressed. Film critic Dilys Powell said he gave 'a performance of scarifying nervous tension'.

Silly comedies and more coward/crook roles followed. It wasn't until the mid 1950s that some good parts came to him, notably the Boulting brothers' Private's Progress and I'm All Right Jack.

He began to want to produce his own films, which he did with Bryan Forbes during the 1960s when not acting. He directed his first picture, Oh What a Lovely War!, in 1969.

To today's movie-goers it is as a film-maker that Attenborough is best known, as Sir Dickie, the rather theatrical knight of international movie production turning out the odd flick with sometimes spectacular success.

Even before Oh What a Lovely War! Attenborough had tried to raise money for a biopic of Gandhi.

The gestation of his Gandhi (the Movie Channel) took 17 years from the start of the first of 12 draft screenplays to the pre-production date. Attenborough estimated that he gave up 40 acting parts and a dozen directorial assignments to realise 'my love affair with this project'.

The epic was released in 1982 and Attenborough's herculean efforts were vindicated. Gandhi won eight Oscars including Best Picture, Actor (Ben Kingsley), Screenplay (John Briley) and Director (Attenborough).

Since 1987 Attenborough has been masterminding another elephantine project: the life of Charlie Chaplin.

The filming has just started with Robert Downey Jr as Chaplin and Winona Ryder expected to play his one-time wife, Paulette Goddard.

The feature will encompass Chaplin's early Mack Sennett silents, the development of Charlie the Tramp, as well as the outcry at Chaplin's considerable extramarital liaisons and suspicions about his political leanings.

Eyebrows have been raised at the scale and ambition of Attenborough's production.

Sets costing several-hundred thousand dollars have been constructed and the biopic was at one time scheduled to eat up some $35million, causing one or two anxiety attacks in Hollywood (Universal have passed the production to Carolco).

But Attenborough's shown before that he has the stomach to play for high-stakes – he's made of sterner stuff than Brighton rock.

● Bravo: Brighton Rock, Monday 4th 5.00pm, Tuesday 19th 8.00pm. The Movie Channel: Gandhi, Friday 8th 1.30pm

CABLE'S NOVEMBER FIREWORKS

Time to light that blue touch paper and retire, as Cable's November arsenal explodes in a shower of movie blockbusters.

Veteran British star Jessica Tandy stars in the Oscar-winning Driving Miss Daisy on Sky Movies Plus, the story of a Southern lady who is forced by her son to accept a chaffeur whom she dislikes.

Meanwhile Beau Bridges and Julianne Phillips live through Seven Hours to Judgement on The Movie Channel, as the hisband of a woman killed by a ruthless gang takes matters into her own hands.

Switch to Bravo for a slice of nostalgia from Richard Attenborough as Pinky the boy terror, leader of a racetrack gang in Brighton Rock, while on HVC Tim Sullivan and Wendy Webb take an unfortunate bus ride to Mexico, where they meet The Laughing Dead.

Man from U.N.C.L.E. David McCallum teams up with The Avengers' Patrick McNee in the search for King Solomon's Treasure on Super Channel, and Joel McCrea joins the lovely Dolores Del Rio in Lifestyle's Bird of Paradise, the story of forbidden love and tribal taboos.

So with 494 films to choose from, you're assured of great movie entertainment in the Winter evenings to come.

Today's Choice

6.00pm Sky Movies Plus. Bare Essentials. This lush comedy-adventure tells of a newly-engaged New York couple who find themselves marooned on a seemingly uninhabited tropical island. Their problems are exacerbated by the arrival of two beautiful strangers who add an unexpected romantic spin to the proceedings and put the out-of-towner's relationship to the test. Starring Mark Linn-Baker, Lisa Hartman, Gregory Harrison and Charlotte Lewis, and directed by Martha Coolidge.

Today's Choice

8.15pm The Movie Channel. Cousins. A romantic comedy about infidelity which follows a pair of husband-and-wife couples through their respective affairs with each others spouses. When Ted Danson's uncle marries Isabella Rossellini's mother, the two become cousins and find in one another kindred romantic spirits, although they don't act on their mutual attraction until Danson's flirtatious wife Sean Young and Rossellini's unctuous, short-tempered husband William Petersen begin their less-than-clandestine relationship. Enough to be going on with!

Today's Choice

5.00pm Bravo. Brighton Rock. Muggers eat your hearts out! Richard Attenborough, alias racetrack gangster Pinkie, is here to tantalize and terrify, in Graham Greene's chilling tale of organised crime in one of Britain's leading resorts between the wars. Keep an eye out for William Hartnell in his pre-Dr Who days, but remember to wear your sunspecs - his suit's a blinder.

Today's Choice

11.30pm Bravo. The Man From U.N.C.L.E. All hail to one of the 1960s most raved-over series. Yes, triangular badges and fountain pen transmitters at the ready, Napoleon and Ilya are back to save us all from the clutches of that most nasty of institutions - T.H.R.U.S.H. From their secret base near New York's UN building (secret?), Mr Waverley coordinates their efforts, sending them to the four corners of the world on who-knows-what hairbrained missions. Welcome back, guys, you've been away too long.

Today's Choice

9.30pm Bravo. Seven Miles from Alcatraz. When two inmates break out of the famous island prison and hole up in a lighthouse, they think they're going cuckoo when they discover German spies have got there before them with plans to destroy San Francisco. Bonita Granville and James Craig star in this tense and intriguing B classic, directed by sometime Hollywood blacklist victim Edward Dmytryk.

Today's Choice

8.00pm Super Channel. The Science Show: The Food. One third of humanity is hungry. But food production is sufficient to meet the demand, so why is there still a problem? The Science Show looks into the question and examines the efforts being made by scientists to develop effective solutions to this major problem. Among the remedies they propose are the development of plants capable of growing without nitrate fertilisers, and the selection of more productive and less demanding animal species.

Today's Choice

8.15pm The Movie Channel. Upworld. Undercover cop Anthony Michael Hall teams up with a gnome (yes, that's right, a gnome) to retrieve a magical enemy source that has been stolen by a fellow officer. An exciting mixture of police thriller and far-flung fantasy from Stan Winston, the brain behind the special effects of Aliens and Edward Scissorhands. Also starring Claudia Christian and Jerry Orbach.

Today's Choice

9.15pm Bravo. The Men. Marlon Brando makes his electrifying movie debut in this emotional drama about a young man who returns paralysed from World War II, and learns to cope with life in a hospital community of fellow victims. Superceded now by modern movies like Born on the Fourth of July, it remains a powerful examination of the devastating effects of any conflict. Teresa Wright of The Best Years Of Our Lives fame appears as his brave and determined fiancee.

9.45pm Bravo. The Sands of Iwo Jima. Cuddly John wayne plays John Stryker, a tough marine Sergeant who is not averse to clocking his men round the face with a rifle butt so they'll get their drill right! It all pays off in the end, though, as John Agar and Forrest Tucker find out when they set off to attack a fiercely defended Japanese stronghold in the Pacific Ocean.

Today's Choice

12.00noon Sky Movies Plus. The Crowded Sky. In the very first of all the air disaster movies, two aircraft find themselves locked on a collision course with one another. The action switches from plane to plane, as the passengers and crews of both ponder their respective fates with varying degrees of hysteria. Don't knock it, it's a great formula, and with a cast that includes Dana Andrews, Rhonda Fleming, Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., and Troy Donahue it's compulsive viewing.

Today's Choice

12.10am The Movie Channel. Wild At Heart. David Lynch's weird and twisted road movie follows the fortunes of two young lovers, Sailor Ripley and Lula Pace Fortune, as they make their way along the dusty back roads of the Deep South and into the heart of America's darkness. The usual rogues gallery of Lynch misfits includes Nicholas Cage, Laura Dern, Diane Ladd, Willem Dafoe, Isabella Rossellini, Harry Dean Stanton and Crispin Glover, but Dennis Hopper must have been busy elsewhere.

Today's Choice

9.00pm Bravo. Teenage Caveman. This low-budget prehistoric movie, produced and directed by the master of cheap cinema Roger Corman, is now esteemed as a minor classic. Made six years before the appearance of The Man From U.N.C.L.E., it stars Robert Vaughn as the loincloth-sporting teenager in question, who has an insuppressible desire to learn more of the 'monster' that lives across the river. Never mind Bob, it was all a long time ago.

Top of the World

The hype and the hope will have been played out over the past month, as November greets the Rugby World Cup final.

From Twickenham, the home of Rugby Football, comes the biggest moment in the sport's history, for the second Rugby World Cup tournament will have reached new heights in every possible way.

Screensport, for example, which shows the game live at 2.00pm, has broadcast every single game to 22 million homes throughout Europe. Apart from its viewers in the UK, Screensport has taken rugby football to 19 other countries - that's four more than saw the inaugural tournament four years ago.

A crowd of 60,000 will be at Twickenham for the final. At the time of going to press, the first round games were still being played, but favourites New Zealand and Australia were seeded for a semi-final meeting, and the winner is likely to meet Scotland or France.

New Zealand and France fight it out in the 1987 World Cup Final

Whatever the outcome, the game of Rugby will benefit, because much of the profits are going to develop the sport in the developing nations. So Namibia will get extra scrummaging dummies, Spain might get goalposts and Ivory Coast some footballs.

The International Rugby Football Board is pushing the boundaries of the sport back and all with the profits of the Rugby World Cup.

Screensport, in fact, worked with the IRFB in the pre-tournament publicity for the emerging nations. Eight European rugby players - from Sweden, Germany, Denmark, Czechoslovakia, Holland, Spain, Portugal, and Belgium - attended a special promotional day at Cardiff Arms Park, where they were introduced to fans before Wales played France in September's World Cup warm-ups.

These are the players who will benefit from the Rugby World Cup tournament's profits, as they try to close the gap on the traditional powerhouse nations.

So when you watch the final on November 2nd, don't forget that the sport of rugby is growing, and by the end of the century maybe Germany, Spain or Namibia will be featuring on your TVs, rather than New Zealand and England. It sounds farfetched, but remember the Cameroons of Italia 90. John Bramley

BROOKS & BENTLEY

The Spice Village

Enchanting porcelain spice jars, delightful miniature houses, a charming accent for your kitchen.

Take a pinch of ginger from a Georgian town-house. Parsley from a Queen Anne villa. And a dash of pepper from your Swiss Chalet.

This is The Spice Village, a collection of 24 spice jars — different from any you've seen before. Each is a sculptured miniature house in fine porcelain, decorated with a pastel design of the spice named over the door.

The Clove House with its gabled tile roof . . . the Ginger House with its cheery pink curtains . . . the Tarragon House with leafy plants in full flower beneath its pitched roof. Each fully washable jar seals airtight. And a spice rack with recipe drawer is included — at no additional charge.

The Spice Village is available only from Brooks & Bentley. To order, simply return the subscription form within 30 days. Or, if you prefer you can order by telephone anytime — by calling 0732 363086.
